

Environmental Policy

Surgitrac Instruments recognise that care for the environment and the optimum use of natural resources are the concern of every business and every individual.

Surgitrac Instruments is therefore committed, not only to compliance with environmental legislation and regulation, but also to the introduction of measures at every stage of business, including design, planning, manufacture and servicing, which will limit any adverse effects of its operations on the environment.

The Company will promote continuous environmental improvement in the use of its resources and the prevention of pollution.

The Environmental Management System will set standards for the Company's operations that are audited on a regular basis.

To fulfil this policy, the Company will train and empower its employees to take responsibility for their actions and those of their colleagues and to recognise that each has a role to play in creating a clean & healthy environment. It will also commit adequate resources in the fulfilment of this policy and will include the costs of these resources in its Business Plan.
